At School Close.

The time has come to say farewell!
For now our term is through;
To sound the present school days' knell.
And bid you a kind adieu.

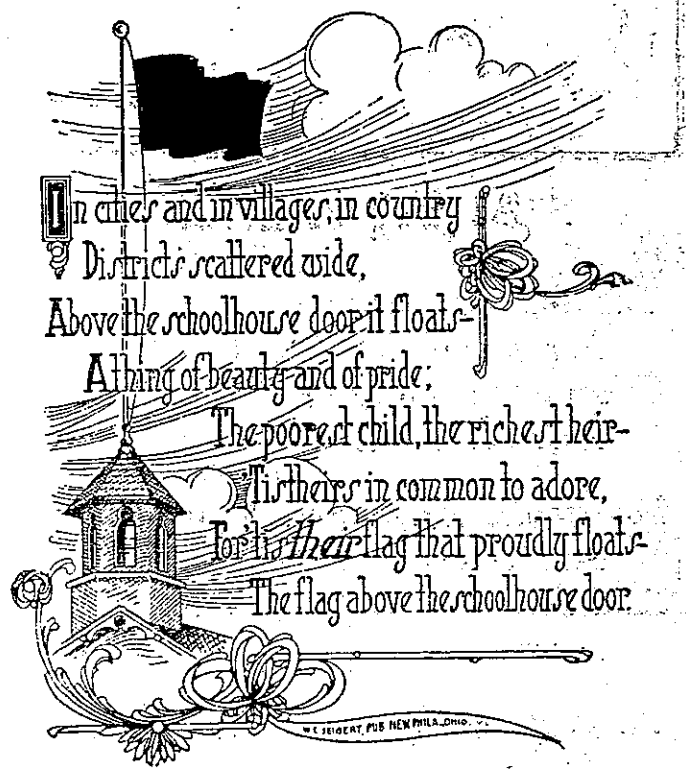

For months together we have met
And conned our lessons o'er,
And done the best to know and get,
A part of learning's store.

Thro' all the days I've labored hard,
And often during night;
Your progress was my sole regard,
Your well-fare my delight.

And thanks for all your favors shown,
For cheer, which toil beguiles;
For roses in my pathway strewn,
For all your love and smiles.

Most fondly do I wish you well,
And hope you each may be,
An ornament where e'er you dwell,
And from all vices free.

In cities and in villages, in country
Districts scattered wide,
Above the schoolhouse door it floats—
A thing of beauty and of pride;
The poorest child, the richest heir—
'Tis theirs in common to adore,
For it, their flag that proudly floats—
The flag above the schoolhouse door.

On the diffusion of education among the people rests the preservation and the perpetuation of our free institutions.
